Save the Date: Attend the 2025 NACo Annual Conference

The National Association of Counties (NACo) will host its 2025 Annual Conference in Philadelphia, July 11-14.

This conference is the premier gathering for the nation's 3,069 counties, parishes, and boroughs.

Conference content includes discussion on federal policies impacting counties, workshops on county best practices, engaging general sessions, mobile tours across the host county of Philadelphia, and more.

NACo members also have the opportunity to influence the association's direction and future during the Annual Business Meeting on the final day of the conference.

Look for details in future editions of CCAP Update or on Naco's website.

Penn State Extension Offers Two Essential Skills Webinars

Penn State Extension is providing the opportunity to participate in two webinars focused on essential skills in the workplace.

Webinar: Essential Skills: Planning for Effective Communication

November 13, 2024

Penn State Extension

Enhance your workplace communication skills in this essential workshop. Effective communication reduces discrepancies and boosts team productivity. You'll learn how to plan your communication by understanding your audience and recognizing common barriers, such as assumptions and lack of clarity. Discover the benefits of using diverse communication methods, and develop your listening skills to create a clearer, more collaborative, and responsive work environment.

Webinar: Essential Skills: Managing for Trust

November 20, 2024

Penn State Extension

Explore how trust can transform your team into a high-performing unit. Trust is the foundation for creating an environment of safety, commitment, and collaboration, but it can easily be compromised. In this session, you'll learn to identify communication behaviors that erode trust, gain practical strategies for building and maintaining trust, and understand the key elements of being a trustworthy leader. You'll also discover how trust-based strategic thinking can elevate team collaboration and get actionable tips on addressing team challenges with empathy and appreciation.
