2025 CCAP Priorities Announced

County leaders from across the Commonwealth came together at the Pennsylvania State Capitol Wednesday morning to unveil their three legislative priorities for 2025. Headlining these priorities was funding and reauthorizing the state 911 system.

"This is something that must be addressed, as 911 call volume is increasing while revenue from the 911 surcharge has failed to maintain pace with system costs over the last several years," said CCAP President and Indiana County Commissioner Sherene Hess. "This life-saving service cannot become a perpetual backburner issue."

The 2025 priorities were selected by CCAP members as the issues with the greatest significance and the most potential for positive impact to counties in the coming year.

"These priorities reflect our ongoing commitment to providing exceptional services while using taxpayer dollars in the most effective and efficient way possible," Hess said.

In addition to 911 funding and reauthorization, counties have also prioritized increasing the funding for the county mental health system and mail-in voting reform.
